

The Rainbow Fish - Moral Stories in English (PDF)

In one bright sea lived a rainbow fish. All the colors of the rainbow shone on her scales, making her unique and beautiful. However, Rainbow Fish was lonely because she believed her beauty was all that mattered.

Once a blue fish asked if he could have bright spots. Rainbow Fish agreed, feeling proud of her scale. The news spread, and soon no one wanted to be friends with him.

Unfortunately, Rainbow Fish sought the advice of a wise old octopus. The octopus told him, "Sharing makes you happy. Rainbow Fish hesitated but decided to try. He gave the blue fish one of his glowing balls.

Soon a miracle happened. The other fish saw his kindness and wanted to be his friend. Now surrounded by friends, Rainbow Fish realized that sharing brought true happiness.

Since then, the rainbow fish have happily shared their scales, making the sea a colorful and happy place for all its inhabitants.

The moral of the story is this: True beauty is sharing and caring for others, not just in what you get.
