

🌙 The Dream of Arham and the Talking Animals

Arham was a curious little boy who loved animals more than anything. Every night before bed, he looked at the stars and imagined a magical world where animals could talk, play, and become his best friends. One night, after closing his eyes, his wish finally came true.

Entering the Dream World zzz

Arham found himself standing in a glowing forest. The trees sparkled with golden leaves, and the river shimmered like silver glass. Suddenly, he heard a gentle voice,

“Welcome, Arham! We have been waiting for you.”

He turned around and saw a lion wearing a golden crown, a rabbit holding a lantern, and a parrot with rainbow wings.

Meeting the Animal Friends 🐾

Each animal introduced itself:

- Leo the Lion 🦁: Brave and strong, but with a kind heart.
- Rumi the Rabbit 🐰: Fast, clever, and always cheerful.
- Pari the Parrot 🦜: Colorful, wise, and loved telling stories.

They told Arham that the Forest of Dreams was in danger. The Dark Fog of Fear was spreading and making all the small animals too scared to dream. Without dreams, the forest would lose its magic.

The Journey to Save the Forest 🌳

Arham and his new friends decided to go on an adventure.

1. Crossing the River of Doubts 🦋

The river was full of scary reflections. It showed Arham all his fears — failing exams, being alone, losing friends.

Arham held Rumi's paw and whispered, "I am not afraid. I believe in myself." Suddenly, a bridge of light appeared, and they crossed safely.

2. Climbing the Mountain of Courage 🏔️

The Mountain was tall and dark. Leo walked proudly and said, "Courage is not the absence of fear, but walking even when fear is near." Inspired, Arham climbed with his friends until they reached the top.

3. The Cave of Lost Dreams 🕸️

Inside, they found tiny animals crying because the Dark Fog had stolen their dreams. The parrot Pari flapped her rainbow wings and told them stories of bravery. Slowly, the animals began to smile again.

The Final Challenge 🌩️

Suddenly, the Dark Fog of Fear appeared, whispering:

"You are too small, Arham. You cannot save anyone."

Arham took a deep breath and remembered his friends' words. He shouted,

"I am small, but my heart is big. I have courage, hope, and friends by my side."

His words turned into a beam of golden light. The lion roared, the rabbit jumped, the parrot spread her wings — together, they chased the Dark Fog away forever.

The Forest Restored ✨

As the fog disappeared, the forest began to glow again. Fireflies lit up the sky, flowers bloomed, and every animal began to dream sweet dreams once more.

The lion bowed and said, “Arham, you are a true hero.”

The rabbit laughed, “Now you are faster than fear itself.”

The parrot added, “Your courage will shine in every child’s dream.”

Returning Home 🏠

A gentle wind lifted Arham and carried him back to his bed. When he opened his eyes, morning sunlight was shining through the window. On his pillow, he found a tiny golden feather — proof that his dream was real.

✨ Moral of the Story

“Courage grows when we believe in ourselves and stand with our friends. Even the smallest heart can defeat the biggest fear.”
