

The Dolphin and the Shadow Waves

One night, the ocean looked calm, but deep inside, dark waves began to rise. All the sea animals were scared because a strange shadow storm was coming.

Far away, a little dolphin named Luna was playing with her friends — a turtle, a crab, and some small fishes. Suddenly, the waves grew bigger and darker. The little fish cried, “We will be lost! The sea is too dangerous!”

*Luna was afraid too, but she remembered her mother’s words:
“Kindness is stronger than fear. When you help others, light will guide you.”*

*So Luna took a deep breath and said, “Follow me! Stay close!”
She helped the crab climb onto the turtle’s back and guided the little fishes safely through the storm.*

Finally, they reached the shore. Suddenly, the ocean started to shine with a magical silver light. The dark waves disappeared. All the animals cheered, “Luna, you saved us with your kindness and courage!”

That night, Luna learned that even the darkest storms cannot win against a kind and brave heart.

★ Moral: Kindness and courage can defeat fear and bring hope.
