The Little Sparrow and the Golden Feather

In a green forest near the sea, there lived a tiny sparrow named Nivi. She was the smallest bird, and sometimes other birds laughed at her because she was weak.

One day, a big storm hit the forest. Trees fell down, nests were broken, and many little animals were in danger. Nivi was scared, but then she saw something shining in the sand. It was a golden feather.

When she touched it, the feather glowed and whispered:
"Kindness gives you real power. Use me to help others."

Nivi felt brave. She flew quickly to help a baby squirrel stuck on a branch. Then she guided lost fireflies to safety and shared food with a hungry rabbit family. Every time she helped, the feather shined brighter.

When the storm ended, all the animals gathered. They said, "Nivi, you are small, but you are the bravest. You saved us with your kindness."

Nivi smiled and kept the golden feather in her nest, not for herself, but to remind everyone that even the smallest heart can do big things.

✨Moral: True strength is not size or power, it is kindness and helping others.
