

The Fox and the Magical Moonlight

One evening in a deep forest, a young fox named Riko was wandering alone. The night was dark, and strong winds made the trees shake. Riko was brave but also a little scared.

Suddenly, the clouds moved, and the moonlight turned silver and magical. A soft voice whispered, “Use my light to help those in need.”

As Riko walked, he found a little deer trapped in the bushes. The deer was crying. Riko used the glowing moonlight to clear the branches and free the deer.

Later, he saw an owl who had fallen from a tree. With the magical light, Riko guided the owl back to its nest.

Every time Riko helped, the moonlight shined brighter, filling the forest with peace. Other animals who once feared the fox now trusted him.

When the night ended, the moon whispered again, “Kindness makes even the darkest nights bright.”

★ Moral: Helping others brings true light, even in dark times.
