

The Little Bird and the Heavy Seed

One cool evening, a little bird named Chirpy found a big heavy seed. He wanted to take it to his garden, but it was too heavy to lift.

*An old bird said, “That’s too big for you, little one.”
But Chirpy smiled. “I won’t give up. I’ll find a way.”*

He pecked at the mud around the seed until it loosened. Slowly, the seed rolled down the slope — right into Chirpy’s garden!

The old bird was amazed. “You’re small, but very smart,” he said.

That night, Chirpy looked at the seed proudly and whispered, “Brains are stronger than wings.”

☾ Moral:

Never give up — use your mind, not just your strength.
